PM Capital Asian Opportunities Fund Limited

Net Tangible Assets &31 DECMonthly Investment Report

31 DECEMBER 2017

Company commentary

Strong performances from Dali Foods, Kunlun Energy and Turquoise Hill Resources contributed to a pleasing overall performance for the month. The appreciating Australian Dollar detracted from returns.

Dali Foods' 16% advance in the month made it the largest contributor to the portfolio's performance. There was limited news specific to Dali to explain the strong share price over the period, but the performance did mirror that of other leading Chinese FMCG (Fast Moving Consumer Goods) companies.

Robust gas demand within China helped support Kunlun Energy, which advanced 21% over the month. The Chinese government continues to promote the adoption of natural gas as a preferred energy source and Kunlun Energy is well placed to benefit from this going forward. The company's 60%-owned PetroChina Beijing Natural Gas Pipeline Co., which is responsible for the majority of natural gas transmission into the Beijing hinterland, completed construction of its fourth Shaanxi-Beijing pipeline in November, thereby increasing capacity by ~70%. This will support Kunlun Energy's earnings growth in 2018.

Base metals advanced into year-end as investor expectations for demand in China continued to strengthen. Turquoise Hill Resources rose 16% after copper, of which China is the largest consumer, reached a three-year high. Underground development at Turquoise Hill Resources' Oyu Tolgoi mine remains on schedule for initial production in 2020.

PM Capital aims to build long term wealth together with our co-investors by finding and exploiting investment anomalies around the world. Using a focused, patient and considered approach to finding simple investment ideas produces the best environment for creating that long term wealth.

Our experience has shown us that while the market is largely efficient, it can, and regularly does, misprice a small proportion of companies. Our unique process is based on scanning the world for those companies (hence the radar in our logo), discovering the associated valuation anomalies and extracting value from them. We buy good businesses at a good price; businesses that we believe are being valued differently to their long term intrinsic value, but will return to their correct value over time
